Andrew graduated from John Jay College of Criminal Justice in 2014 with a Bachelors of Science, with Honors in Criminal Justice. He then attended the Elisabeth Haub School of Law at Pace University, where he graduated in 2018. In law school, Andrew was a founding member and treasurer of the Personal Injury Law Association. He was also a member of the Advocacy Honor Board and the Commercial Arbitration Moot Team, which participated in the Judith S. Kaye Commercial Arbitration Competition. After his second year of law school, Andrew worked as a judicial intern for the Honorable David F. Everett, A.J.S.C., in the Westchester County Supreme Court, 9th Judicial District. In his last year of law school, as a member of the Barbara C. Salkin Criminal Justice Clinic, Andrew had the opportunity to work directly with clients as a student attorney. Working under a student practice order, he gained valuable courtroom experience defending misdemeanor and felony cases for the Legal Aid Society in Bronx and Westchester Counties. Today, at Keidel, Weldon & Cunningham, LLP, Andrew handles the defense of insurance agents and brokers in professional liability claims and lawsuits in New York.
